INTRODUCTION

Day one is the hardest. Make it easy.

The first session isn't about getting fit. It's about walking in, doing something simple, and walking out knowing you can come back. This checklist takes the guesswork out of it.

CHAPTER 01

Before you go

- [ ] Check with a doctor first if you have a medical condition, injury or are pregnant
- [ ] Pack: water bottle, small towel, headphones, gym card or app
- [ ] Wear comfortable clothes and flat closed shoes
- [ ] Eat a light snack 1–2 hours before
- [ ] Pick a quieter time if you can (often mid-morning or early afternoon)
- [ ] Save this page on your phone

When you get there

- [ ] Ask staff for a quick tour and how to adjust the machines below
- [ ] Find the water fountain, toilets and wipe-down spray
- [ ] Wipe equipment after use and put weights back

CHAPTER 02

The 30-minute first workout

Use light weights. Every set should feel easy to moderate. You're learning, not testing.

Exercise	Sets × reps	Rest
Warm-up: bike or brisk walk	5 minutes	-
Leg press	2 × 10	90 s

Exercise	Sets × reps	Rest
Lat pulldown	2 × 10	90 s
Machine chest press or incline push-up	2 × 10	90 s
Seated cable row	2 × 10	90 s
Plank (from knees is fine)	2 × 20 s	60 s
Cool-down: easy walk + stretches	5 minutes	-

> Stop if it hurts
> Mild effort is good. Sharp pain, dizziness or chest discomfort is not. Stop and get help.

CHAPTER 03

After your session

- [ ] Write down the weights you used
- [ ] Drink water and have a normal meal
- [ ] Book your next session in your calendar now (2–3 days from today)
- [ ] Expect some muscle soreness for a day or two. That's normal

How I felt walking out

> “The First 12 Weeks” gives you every session, an exercise library with easier swaps, a progression system and a training log.

FINALLY

You did it

Take a step. There's hope.
